

ATTEMPT ASSASSINATION OF ITALY'S KING BY AN INSANE YOUTH TODAY

ROME THROWN INTO THE GREAT-EST EXCITEMENT BY THE SHOTS FIRED AT ROYAL CARRIAGE.

ASSAILANT ARRESTED

Mob Nearly Tears Him to Pieces Before the Police Rescue Him From Their Hands.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Rome, March 14.—An attempt was made to assassinate King Victor Emmanuel this morning. Several shots were fired at him but all missed their target and his majesty escaped unhurt. His assailant was arrested.

The King was just leaving the palace on his way to the Pantheon to attend the annual memorial service in honor of his father the late King Humbert.

The youthful assassin fired several shots from the crowd in the street. One of the King's body guards, full of wounds but the King was unhurt. There was tremendous excitement in the crowd which turned on the youth and attempted to lynch him.

Was Rescued.

The police finally rescued him from the clutches of the mob. The King was cool amid all the excitement. He continued on his way after only a brief stop and sat through the Pantheon services without a sign of emotion.

Handled Roughly.

The populace handled the would-be assassin so roughly before the police could intervene that the youth was scarcely able to speak when he reached the police station.

An Anarchist.

He gave his name as Antonio Diha, age twenty-one, and declared he was an "individualist" anarchist.

Memorial Service.

The attempt on the King's life was made on his way to the Pantheon where he was going to take part in the annual memorial service in honor of King Humbert. The royal carriage was preceded and followed by an escort of carabinieri.

Three Shots.

The procession was passing along the Via Lata when three shots rang out. The soldiers following the carriage dashed forward and as they did so their commander fell off his horse. The wounded officer was removed to one side by one of his men while the others dashed up to the royal carriage where the King and Queen were sitting unmoved.

Seized by Mob.

Meanwhile the crowd seized the man who had fired the shot and attempted to lynch him. He was so badly handled that he was scarcely able to answer question when handed over to the police.

Went to Pantheon.

The royal procession was interrupted on its way to the Pantheon where the mass of King Humbert was completed without further incident and after the conclusion the King and Queen returned to the Quirinal along the same route.

Learn of Shooting.

At their arrival at the Palace the King learned for the first time that the commander of his body guard, Major Lang had been seriously wounded and his majesty started at once for the hospital where the Major was lying. He traveled there in an open automobile and showed no sign of having passed through an ordeal.

Nearly Killed.

The man who had fired the shot in the meantime had been taken to the police station; the police having great difficulty in passing through the crowd which showed intense anger and a desire to wreak immediate vengeance. At the police station in spite of the man's condition he was subjected to keen questioning.

Fired at King.

He said he had taken a position in the crowd near the Quirinal Palace and waited for the King's coming and when the royal carriage passed in front of where he was standing he fired three shots at the King. None of the bullets made his mark. All the circumstances lead to the belief that the would-be assassin of his majesty was not concerned in any plot of any organization but that his deed was the outcome of his own individual aversion.

Deepest Concern.

The impression given out through the city at the attempt on the life of the King is one of the deepest concern. The move of the affair affects the Romans more keenly because it occurred on the anniversary of the birth of the late King Humbert and because in his memory. The spot near the Corso where the attempt was made has been surrounded all day by an excited crowd waving Italian flags and shouting "Long Live the King." A large number of people also proceeded to the Quirinal where they made another demonstration.

Told His Mother.

A touching scene occurred between King Victor Emmanuel and his mother the Dowager Queen Margherita. She had arrived at the Pantheon and was awaiting the coming of her majesty when King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Elena came in. They gave no hint of what had occurred. All assisted at the mass and when it was over, the King himself announced that an attempt had been made on his life.

Expresses Regret.

Pope Pius when he was notified by Cardinal Merry del Val of the attempt on the King's life, expressed his regret and said: "There are the consequences of the freedom of our time."

Delba's mother declared today that

TWENTY-FIVE HURT IN KANSAS WRECK

Train From St. Paul to Kansas City Demolished and Many People Injured.—One Fatally.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Dunkerton, Ia., March 14.—Twenty-five persons were injured, thirteen seriously and one probably fatally, in a wreck of passenger train No. 1, en route from St. Paul to Kansas City on the Chicago Great Western railway three miles east of here, at an early hour this morning. The train, which was southbound, struck a broken rail on a curve.

Fourteen passengers were taken to a hospital in Waterloo. The train was in charge of Conductor H. M. Peck, of Kansas City, who was among the injured.

Officials of the Chicago Great Western here declare that not more than fourteen persons were injured, none of them seriously. The official report was that of the fourteen who went to the hospital all but four walked from the train to the institution.

WILL TRY MINISTER ON MURDER CHARGE

Rev. McFarland Will Undergo Trial For Death of Stenographer in Tennessee.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 14.—District Attorney William H. Baker had completed all arrangements today for the trial of Rev. W. D. McFarland, of Greenville, Tenn., indicted in connection with the death in this city of his former secretary, Miss Elsie D. Cox, who died as a result of a criminal operation.

Judge John C. Haymaker appeared at the presiding judge and when the case was called Attorney Homer C. Castle, for the defense, presented a motion to quash the indictment. Throughout the argument Mrs. McFarland frequently pressed the hand of her husband as they sat quietly to either listening to the attorney.

NOTED SUFFRAGETTES SENT TO PRISONS

London Police Bring Leaders Up For Conspiracy in Connection With The Window Smashing Episode.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

London, March 14.—Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Lawrence, joint editors of "Votes for Women," Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst and Mrs. Michael Tuke were brought up again today at the Bow street police court on a charge of conspiracy in connection with the recent window smashing campaign in the streets of London.

Archibald Henry Bodkin, counsel for the treasury produced a mass of documentary evidence which he declared unveiled such a mischievous, extensive and deliberate conspiracy as must insure the conviction of the accused for trial under the criminal law.

No less than twenty thousand pounds, he declared, had been paid by the defendants for the hire of halls for meetings. The sole object of which was to instigate a series of militant protests. He estimated the fund of the Women's Political and Social Union, of which the defendants were the leaders at $572,000.

FIRE DESTROYS COURTHOUSE OF BUTLER COUNTY, OHIO

Loss Estimated at $250,000.—Efforts to Recover Court Records Fail.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Hamilton, Ohio, March 14.—Fire was discovered in the Butler county courthouse just before noon today. The upper floor near the high clock tower was in flames before the department could arrive. Three members of the fire department were killed when the tower crashed in through the foyer. John Fritz was rescued, fatally burned; the other two have not yet been located. Efforts to recover the county records were checked by the flames. The loss is now estimated at $250,000.

"FREE SUGAR" BILL CAUSES A SPLIT IN DEMOCRATIC RANKS

Chairman Underwood Promises to End Debate on Question Today.—Prohibit Shipment of War Supplies.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Washington, March 14.—The democratic "free sugar" tariff revision bill was taken up in the House today and a bitter split in the democratic ranks resulted. Democrats from cane and beet sugar producing states had prepared speeches inveighing against the measure.

It was contended by these members that the bill meant the end of the sugar growing industry in the United States. Chairman Underwood early made known his intention to end general debate today and no matter how into the House might be compelled to remain in session.

Tomorrow debate is to be limited to five minutes for each member and into tomorrow or early Saturday the measure is expected to pass.

The republicans are prepared when debate is ended to ask for the recommitment of the bill. To advance the chance of this carrying it was contended for contribution of the Dutch standard and the preferential feature of certain grade of sugar.

Prohibit War Supplies.

Washington, March 14.—The House today after a brief discussion adopted the concurrent resolution passed by the senate yesterday authorizing the President to prohibit the exportation of war supplies to any American country where domestic violence exists. In signing the resolution Taft will issue a proclamation especially forbidding the shipments of arms to Mexican revolutionaries.

Steel Bill Report.

The finance committee of the senate today ordered an adverse report of the House steel bill. This decision was reached by a strict party vote of 8 to 6, the democratic voting for the House measure which they will urge in a minority report.

STANDARD BEARERS IN ENTERTAINMENT

Young Ladies of Methodist Church Give Delightful Program And Make Forty Dollars.

The Standard Bearers of the Carroll Memorial church gave a unique and pleasing entertainment at the church parlors last evening. Thirteen young ladies in costume represented different countries and contributed an appropriate number for the program, while Miss Clara Anderson gave three vocal selections in her usual pleasing manner.

Mrs. C. E. Bodley, as Goddess of Liberty, presided at the meeting, opening the entertainment with a nation color drill by six young ladies. Miss Cora Whitely represented the American Indian; Aletha Denoyer, Holland; Gladys Kutter, Germany; Ethel Brownell, Spain; Dora De Lido, Italy; Myrtle Hancock, India; Rena Dewey, a Tagalog woman of the Philippines; Hazel Dewey, France; Alice Conkna, Scotland; Mabel Isaac, Japan; Mabel Munger, China; Helen Atkinson, Africa; Mary Delaney, Ireland. Refreshments were served and the young ladies added over forty dollars to their treasury.

FIGHTING CONTINUES AROUND KWUNG-TUNG

Troops From Swatow and Waihow Engage in Scattered Fighting Today in Kwang Tung.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Amoy, China, March 14.—Desultory fighting has been going on during the last three days between troops from Swatow and soldiers belonging to Waihow, both in the province of Kwangtung. A column that was sent out to reinforce reinforcements from Waihow was annihilated by the Swatow troops. The merchants of Swatow are trying to bring about a compromise between the two factions. The United States monitor Monterey remained at Swatow.

JOINT WAGE CONFERENCE MEETS IN METROPOLIS

Will Consider Demand for Increased Wages by Locomotive Engineers of Eastern Railroads.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

New York, March 14.—A joint conference met in this city today to consider the demands for increased wages made by the engineers of the Eastern railroads. The conference is expected to last several days. The engineers are represented by a committee appointed by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. A committee of executive officials appeared for the railroads, representing all of the important lines east of the Mississippi and north of the Chesapeake and Ohio and including the Grand Trunk railway of Canada. The engineers ask for an increase in pay ranging from 15 to 50 per cent and the standardization of wages.

MRS. CARNEGIE PATRONESS AT WOMAN'S INDUSTRIAL SHOW

New York, March 14.—Mrs. Andrew Carnegie, Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Mrs. John A. Dix, Mrs. O. N. Belmont and many other well known women were among the patronesses of the Women's Industrial Exhibition, which opened in the Central Palace today and will continue until March 27. Ten organizations, representing 10,000 women, are the active patrons of the exhibition, which is designed to show to the world at large the advancement made by women in the past few years in every branch and occupation of trade, science, art, philosophy and literature.

VIRGINIA VILLAGE SCENE OF MURDER OF ENTIRE COURT

Unprecedented Outlawry Ends in Wholesale Slaughter of Judge, Attorney, Sheriff and Jurors.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Hillsville, Va., March 14.—In a drama of unprecedented outlawry the entire court in session here today was wiped out by assassination. Just as Judge Thornton Massey had sentenced Floyd Allen to one year in prison, for aiding in the escape of a county prisoner, two of the Allen's brothers and several friends opened fire with revolvers.

Judge Massey fell dead in his place on the bench by the first volley. Then the weapons were turned on the commonwealth attorney, William Foster, and he sank to the floor with several bullets in his brain, death being instantaneous. Sheriff Lewis Webb, making a frantic effort to reach the ring leaders was shot dead before he had taken ten steps.

Several of the jurors who had tried the case were seriously wounded, J. H. Blankenship probably fatally.

The Allen's including the prisoner and their friends after the killing of the sheriff backed slowly out of the court room, holding all would be pursuers in check at the point of revolvers.

Once outside they made a dash for the mountains on horseback. A posse of citizens was soon in pursuit and reports have reached here that one of the Allen's had been seriously wounded in a pitched battle with the posse. Special officers are being rushed into the country to help in running down the murderers and Governor Mann is holding two companies of National Guards in readiness. In the event that the Allen's and their friends gather recruits in the mountain passes whence they came.

Hillsville is in a remote quarter, 15 miles from the nearest railway station and outside help will be slow in arriving. The village was thrown into a ferment nearly every man in this section of the country has joined in the hunt.

There had been reports that an attempt might be made to rescue Floyd Allen who himself had aided a prisoner or friend recently to escape from the county officers.

The trial had been in progress for several days, however, without any indications of the plot to effect his escape. Allen had been found guilty and had been called for sentence today.

Judge Massey began the sentencing of the prisoner in the usual matter of fact way, but the words "one year at hard labor" scarcely had passed his lips when there came the crack of a revolver.

This was followed immediately by a volley of shots and the judge who started to rise at the first shot lay dead and bleeding on the bench. Commonwealth Attorney Foster was sitting directly in front of the bench and was next to succumb to the deadly aim of the outlaws.

Fully 100 shots were fired in the court room it was said by spectators who escaped. In the first fusillade several jurors were wounded.

Douglas Dead.

Roanoke, Va., March 14.—It was reported here from Hillsville that Juror Douglas also has been killed and that Floyd Allen one of the mountaineers had been mortally wounded and is under arrest.

Offers Reward.

Richmond, Va., March 14.—Governor Mann has offered a reward of $1,000 for the capture of the murderers who escaped from Hillsville court house after having slain the court officers. The governor has also ordered the Roanoke and Lynchburg national guard companies to be prepared to proceed to Hillsville.

PACKERS LEAVE CASE WITHOUT TESTIMONY

Ten Packers Agree to Submit Case to Jury Without Further Testimony.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Chicago, March 14.—The ten Chicago packers charged with criminal violation of the Sherman law will submit their case to the jury without presenting any testimony. This announcement was made today to U. S. District Judge Cameron by counsel for the defendants in the packers trial. Case was then adjourned until Monday when arguments to the jury will be begun.

The Wants of The People

The "Wants" of a progressive people are numerous and of every imaginable kind. From the desire for work to the need of a home, from the need of a tenant to the desire for a cook they exist in endless variety.

So that the people may get together and "swap" their wants the "want" ad pages of "The Gazette" were created.

The Gazette is best for filling wants because it has far the largest circulation of any daily paper in Janesville, and offers a better opportunity for the man with a "want" to find the right party.

The Gazette is the people's paper and the people's wants are always best filled by the People's Paper.

MINE WORKERS WILL NOT COMPROMISE A SINGLE DEMAND MADE

President White Makes Statement—Looks for General Suspension of Work in Anthracite Field April 1.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

New York, March 14.—"The United Mine Workers of America will not compromise a single demand that they made of the anthracite coal operators," declared John P. White, president of the mine workers this afternoon. "I look for a general suspension of work in the anthracite field on April 1st," he added. "The operators have notified us that their reply is final." When we meet them tomorrow we will file nearly a formal reply relating to the operators. It will then be up to the operators. If they make no concession every union hard coal miner in Pennsylvania will lay down his tools on the night of March 31. It seems that the best we can hope for now is a mere suspension instead of a strike. While the anthracite coal operators have authority to call a strike, we probably will postpone such action, at least until after the meeting of the bituminous coal mines in Cleveland March 20. The whole situation will come up for review before the policy committee March 25 and a strike of the bituminous mines is not unlikely.

While the members of the Miners' Committee meeting today, to consider complete refusal of the operators of their demands for a twenty per cent raise in wages, recognition of the union and eight hour day and other conditions at the mines were uncommunicative, they expressed the opinion that the proposition made by the operators yesterday to the miners to renew the present working agreement for three years was made for the purpose of paying the way for a compromise agreement. Should the side yield the question of a strike will be taken up by what is known as the policy committee to be called later.

Strikes in Germany.

Dortm, March 14.—The coal strike is spreading rapidly to other fields besides those in Westphalia. Over 300,000 miners now have laid down their tools and the socialist unions are being joined in many places by the members of the Christian miners' union. The feeling against the authorities is growing in intensity, owing to the killing of two miners by the police at Herne and Buer.

The police at Hamborn in the Dusseldorf district which is regarded as the danger center, today, are searching all strikers suspected of having revolvers. Three regiments of infantry and four squadrons of cavalry have been sent from Munster, and Minden, to assist in the preservation of order in the strike region.

Peace in Sight.

London, March 14.—The negotiations between the mine owners and the miners in the local trade dispute appears to be taking a favorable course. Another meeting will be called tomorrow.

TAFT COMMITTEEMEN NAMED BY DELEGATES

Three of Four Delegates at Large for Taft Have Announced Personal Campaign Committee.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Madison, Wis., March 14.—Former Governor J. O. Davidson, Emanuel Philipp and George B. Hudnall, three of the four candidates for delegates at large to the republican national convention, all pledged to vote for William H. Taft, have filed with the secretary of state a list of their members of their personal campaign committees. By congressional districts they are as follows:

First, George H. Harts, Waukesha; Second, John Bennett, Port Washington; Third, Richard Meyer, Lancaster; Fourth, James T. Drought, Milwaukee; Fifth, E. J. Henning (secretary), Milwaukee; Sixth, George A. Hunkeler, Oshkosh; Seventh, George Dixon, La Crosse; Eighth, Louis A. Pratt, Wausau; Ninth, Thomas J. McGrath, Green Bay; Tenth, Marshall Cousins, Eau Claire; Eleventh, H. H. Grace, Superior.

C. M. Davidson of Dodge county, Second district candidate for district delegate to the republican national convention, also for Taft, has chosen the following committee: Julian Ziller (secretary), Port Washington; C. A. Phillips, Port Washington; J. M. Barney, West Bend; Henry J. Palk, West Bend; D. P. Doty, Jefferson; Ben Holt, Columbus; H. J. Trell, Waupun; H. Wertheimer, Watertown; Guy Pierce, Portage; M. H. Atwood, Portage; T. M. Bowler, Green Bay; and Theodore H. Boyer, Shiocton.

Alexander E. Matheson of Janesville, candidate to the republican national convention from the First district, and pledged to Taft, has appointed as his personal committee: H. H. Salmon, Beloit; George B. Harris, Waukesha; David G. James (secretary), John M. Koehler, Kenosha; and Frank H. Johnson, Darien (secretary).

Mayor W. S. Goodland of Racine, La Follette candidate for delegate from the First district, filed a statement showing disbursements of $24 in his campaign. Twenty-five dollars of this amount went to his personal committee.

ROOSEVELT EXCUSED FROM DUTY ON JURY—HE MIGHT DISTRACT MINDS OF JURORS

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Minneapolis, L. J. March 14.—Theodore Roosevelt's jury duties are over. Supreme Justice Putnam told him this morning he could be excused. Counsel had contended in the court that in their opinion Roosevelt's presence in the box would distract his fellow jurors' minds from any case and for that reason they would challenge him.

OREGON REFERENDUM LAW IS UNDER FIRE

Arguments Heard By Supreme Court Of State To Prove That Fraudulent Signatures Were Secured.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Salem, Ore., March 14.—Arguments were heard today before the State Supreme Court in the University of Oregon referendum case—a case which involves alleged frauds under the referendum phase of the "Oregon system." Before the law appropriating $500,000 for buildings and extensions of the University of Oregon at Eugene went into effect, petitions asking a referendum on the bills were filed with the Secretary of State. Examination of the petitions by friends of the university is said to have disclosed frauds and irregularities sufficient to justify a suit to enjoin the Secretary of State from putting the question on the ballot for next November.

Evidence introduced in the trial of the injunction suit in the circuit court indicated that the greater part of the 13,000 names on the petitions were secured by paid circulators at a few cents per name, and that in the case of seven circulators gross frauds were charged.

Two lists of names were secured, it is alleged, by hanging the petitions in a school in Astoria, and another list of 100 names from The Dalles is said to have contained the names of men dead for years. Evidence was so conclusive that the defendants of the petitions had to admit that 3,778 names were fraudulent, being forged and in addition some 4,525 names were presented in a form declared void by a previous decision of the State Supreme Court.

Elimination of these names brought the number of unattached names below the limit required to call a referendum. The Secretary of State, however, contends through counsel that a part of the 4,525 names should be considered good—enough of these being claimed to insure the referendum. The university won its case in the circuit court. The judge scolding the fraudulent means used in securing many of the signatures. In the brief filed on appeal, the university contends that even the names unattached by direct evidence should be looked upon with suspicion because of frauds admitted on the remainder of the petition.

The final decision in the case is awaited with keen interest by both the friends and opponents of the Oregon system of popular government. Among the notable outsiders who have manifested an interest in the proceedings are Governor Hiram W. Johnson of Ohio, Governor Wilson of New Jersey, and the Rt. Hon. James Bryce, British ambassador at Washington and the author of "The American Commonwealth." From each of the three men named have come requests for copies of the briefs filed in the case.

ILLINOIS CAMPAIGN HOTTEST IN YEARS

Factional Rows in Republican Party Give Democrats Great Hope—Yates Opens Campaign in Peoria.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Chicago, Ill., March 14.—Richard Yates, of Springfield, opened his campaign for the Republican nomination for governor of Illinois at Peoria today. He intends to keep up an active canvass from now until the date of the general primary next month. Mr. Yates held the governorship in 1904. He has managed to maintain a considerable following since he retired from office eight years ago, as was shown when he was candidate for United States senator against Senator Charles H. Deneen two years ago. He declares himself independent of any and all party factions. Many former followers are friendly to him.

Mr. Yates is but one of eight aspirants for the Republican gubernatorial nomination this year. Governor Deneen heads the list as a candidate for renomination. The Governor is taking no sides in the presidential agitation, being friendly to both the President and Mr. Roosevelt, and expects to be in a position, if he is renominated, to use the maximum of his influence for the national ticket.

Next to Governor Deneen the most prominent entry in the Republican race for governor appears to be Walter Clyde Jones, of Chicago, who is the standard bearer of the ultra-progressive type of Illinois Republicans. A third entry is John E. W. Wayman, district attorney of Chicago, who is generally looked upon as the "Personal Liberty" candidate on Small of Kansas, who has the endorsement of the so-called Lorimer Lincoln League for the nomination. Charles P. Hurlburg of Galveston, John J. Brown of Vandallia and J. McCan Davis are also actively seeking support.

The bitter factional rows in the Democratic party have given the Democrats great hopes of success this year. Only once have the Democrats carried Illinois for President and Governor since the civil war. This was in 1892 when the electoral vote was cast for Cleveland and the governorship went to John P. Altgeld.

PROF. M. V. O'SHEA TO ADDRESS GOPHER TEACHERS

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Rochester, Minn., Mar. 14.—Every arriving train today brought delegates and visitors to the annual convention of the Southeastern Minnesota Educational Association. The convention has its formal opening tonight and the sessions will continue over tomorrow and Saturday. Among the noted educators on the program are President Vincent of the University of Minnesota, President Maxwell of the Wisconsin Normal School, Professor M. O'Shea of the University of Wisconsin, and Dr. Nathaniel Butler, dean of the department of education of the University of Chicago.

UNDERWOOD URGES PROPOSED EXCISE LAW DIVIDES TAXATION

BILL EXTENDS CORPORATION TAX LAW TO CO-PARTNERSHIPS AND INDIVIDUALS.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Washington, March 14.—Maintaining the constitutionality of the proposed excise tax bill, extending provisions of the corporation tax law to individuals and co-partnerships, submitted as a revenue measure to replace customs duties on sugar, Representative Underwood, Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, made a report to the House today, urging the passage of the bill.

After arguing the constitutionality of the proposed law, proclaiming it in absolute conformity with Supreme Court decisions relating to the income tax, the report explains the provisions and scope of the measure as it would effect individuals. "While the bill," says the report, "embodies a new application of taxes, it carries all the modern philosophy of taxation. It proposes to oblige the citizen to contribute his best talents to the maintenance of the government. As already stated, this bill, if enacted into law, will accomplish in the main all the purposes of a general income tax law and at the same time escape the disapproval of the Supreme Court, as it keeps well within the principles laid down by that court in sustaining the constitutionality of the corporation tax law.

To illustrate the equitable adjustment of the excise law recommended, the report having an income of less than $5,000 a year, would pay nothing, while a person whose business earns $10,000 a year would pay no tax on the first $5,000 and on the second $5,000 would pay only $50 a year.

Continuing, the report asserts that the burden of "our present indirect taxation" falls upon people having incomes of less than $2,000. "At large" percentage of the customs taxes," it says, "amounting to $309,955,662 in 1911, was paid by people whose incomes did not exceed $2,000 a year. The bill aims to distribute more justly the tax burden by shifting an equitable portion of the taxes to the shoulders of those of larger earnings. There are no statistics as to the number of individuals, firms, and co-partnerships in the United States that would be subject to the taxes proposed by this bill.

The report calls the proposed bill a combination of the excise tax of 1898 and the corporation tax law of 1909, both of which "have been held valid in all respects by the Supreme Court," and further urging why it should be popular, says:

"The revenue for the support of the government, as raised by taxation, is now almost equally divided between customs and excise duties. Of the $701,372,355 taxes collected in 1911 for this purpose, the customs amounted to $309,955,662, and the internal revenue or excise duties, to $391,416,693. These taxes are solely on consumption. Property, and the income from property as such, pay no part of these taxes. Under a system of national taxation, based wholly on consumption, wealth necessarily escapes its fair share of the burden of supporting the government, which gives wealth the necessary protection under which it increases its gains. On the other hand, when he purchases for himself and family the necessities of life, the man of moderate earnings contributes out of his daily wage to the support of the government. When a citizen pays taxes according to his earnings, from whatever source, he gives support to his government, and receives protection from it in a more equitable manner than under any other plan of taxation yet devised. If his earnings increase his taxes increase, and justly so, for he is better able to pay increased taxes. If his gains decrease, (Continued on page 12.)

MUCH DISTURBED.

With the discovery of the South Pole by the Amundsen party many of the leading journals throughout the country are much disturbed over the prospect of there being nothing left worth while discovering. The Christian Science Monitor, in discussing the question, has the following to say:

"Is the business of exploration to fall into desuetude? Have Columbus, Gama, Magellan, Balboa, Lewis, Clark, Pike, Stanley, Parry, Amundsen, or Scott, and the rest, exhausted the field? Is the occupation of the discoverer gone? Not by any means. Just as long as there shall exist such a thing as human curiosity there will also exist a desire to satisfy it. It may be true, perhaps, that there will be little or nothing doing in geographical pioneering hereafter. We have explored the equator and all the parallels of latitude; we have charted the most remote and desolate islands; we have established commerce with all peoples; we have visited the poles, but it would be nonsense to say that we are prepared to sit back now and take the world as we know it, for what it seems.

"The real business of exploration is yet to begin. We have so far simply been running over the shell of this sphere and scratching its surface. Approximately it is 8,000 miles through. We have only made philosophy of what's inside of it. Our knowledge of its interior contents is based wholly upon theory. Because five leagues from it occasionally we have come to the conclusion that it is too hot for comfort, but in so concluding we usually overlook the fact that it must be a tremendous storehouse for forces of which as yet we have but small conception.

"Man is hardly to be contented until he goes down into the earth and finds out all about it. We have been watching for years the exploits of the heroic sons of adventure who have gone farthest north and farthest south, and we have applauded them at every advance; the time may come when our heroes in the exploration line will be those who shall have gone farthest down or farthest in, as the case may be.

"The mere thought of the possibilities of the explorer of the future, with the interior of the earth as his field, opens up a boundless range of speculation. Imagine great gas reservoirs, or natural electric currents, and trusts to pipe or wire them to the surface; wonderful mines and navigable rivers, and continents to develop light and navigate them; further routes between the hemispheres, with capital following and monopolizing them; pleasure resorts where there is warm water bathing all the year round, and the center of the earth enlivened by Caribbeas, Hamburgs, Coney Islands, Atlantic Cities and Havana, beaches! Elevator shafts, of course, would be sunk so that one might go down twenty or thirty miles after business to find perfect quiet, returning on the commotion lift in time for the stock initiative. It is the easiest thing in the world to see that the opening up of the interior of the earth may eclipse the opening up of the American West, or darkest Africa, and make the prospective opening up of Alaska an insignificant incident. Wait until the now-school explorers find themselves and their opportunities."

LAW AND THE WORKMAN.

The Wall Street Journal discusses this subject in the following manner. Just at this time, with the Lawrence strike, of interest to the workman the world over, it is particularly significant.

"A noteworthy phase of recent labor agitation has been a readiness to resort to violence unusual in times past, even with a clear memory of the Homestead and other riots. The violence, moreover, has not been all on one side, and most people will feel that the municipal authorities in Lawrence, Mass., have not been brilliantly successful in the handling of what was doubtless a dangerous and difficult situation.

"The lawlessness is a development of the most crucial consequence. It is a reaction from the false conception of the power of law deliberately spread by our agitators and politicians. The workman has been told that there is no evil which the law could not remedy, and no grievance for which a statute in remedy could not be devised. The more enactment of a statute has been pronounced as a cure for any popular complaint, in face of the glaringly obvious fact that if there is anything less adequate than the laws we pass it is our methods of enforcing them.

"Naturally all this has led to disappointment. Intelligent people write constantly to the newspapers recommending new legislation when our statute books are cumbered with rubbish already. The law's delay in this state is a scandal that cries out to Heaven, and yet New York state has four times the number of superior and supreme court judges there are in England, where litigation is conducted with a speed not seen in any part of the Union in fifty years.

"No wonder the country is facing a sinister reaction. The workman, instead of believing that the law could do everything for him, is coming to respect it altogether. On the rare occasions when he is unmolested in the folds of the law, the procedure is not much as to win his respect. He sees nothing but a delay which is a denial of justice. If his claim is against a corporation which chooses to fight, he may watch the disappearance of his witness and find himself non-suited after years of wasted money and time. Between the demagogues and the law he comes to believe in any foundation of society. We have devised a machine which creates anarchy by the mere process of dilution, and the more we tinker with the parts the more unworkable it becomes."

THE ASSASSIN.

Today's dispatches tell of the attempt upon the life of Italy's king by a youth of anarchistic tendencies. Assassination of the world's rulers at different times in history have always led to serious trouble throughout civilized communities. The United States has suffered from the assassin's weapons. Italy has been sorrowed in a similar manner and Russia has suffered continually. Anarchism is a disease of the brain encouraged by conditions that are often imaginary. The attempt today will cement the loyalty to the king in Italy at a time when it is most needed and will act in an entirely different manner from what the would-be assassin had hoped.

AFTER ROOSEVELT.

Senator La Follette is in North Dakota today starting in on a strenuous campaign against Theodore Roosevelt and his campaign managers in their efforts to obtain the North Dakota delegation pledged to the support of the Colonel. Evidently Senator La Follette has entirely recovered from his recent indisposition which unfortunately came at the time when he needed all his energies to continue his campaign for the presidential nomination. There will be far flying in the Dakota from now on and according to press dispatches the senator will not stop there, but will follow his traitorous friend Pinchot through the west in an effort to undo the work he is attempting of winning the west for Sugamore Hill. It is going to be an interesting scrap, taking it all in all.

The way to express your sentiment at the primaries where it will do the most good is to vote for the candidate for mayor you believe is best fitted for the office and apply the same doctrine to the two commissioners you vote for.

That express messenger who killed one hand with a mallet and the other with his partner's own gun evidently did not mean to give up any of the company's money just because he was underpaid.

An Evanston professor says that if your feet are cold you are displeased with something. Remember that and think of the weather and see how quickly your feet get cold.

Germany is going to form government monopolies to fight the trusts, thus going after them with their own medicine.

The great source of the Roosevelt sentiment has at last been discovered. It is located at Oyster Bay and Sugamore Hill.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

SIGNS OF SPRING.
When the ash pile fills the collar
And the tin can fills the yard
When a feller's sort of lazy
And the work comes mighty hard;
When the wife starts in to hinting
That housecleaning time is near.
And the thrifty start to hanker
For the annual back beer;
When the bull teams get to starting
For the good old sunny south,
And the robin comes chattering
With his breakfast in his mouth;
When the old sun starts to shining
Upon both sides of the street,
And the newly painted motor
Come out looking trim and neat;
When the overcoats get heavy
And are hard to lug around,
And a feller gets to longing
For a sight of real old ground;
When the chained goods all grow
rusty;
And the pancakes grow passé,
And the good old soapstone griddle
Is hung up out of the way;
When the elder bud's empty
And the elder krait is all gone
And a feller starts to figuring
On how seed for his lawn;
When the wife is planting gardens
And the tomatoes start to sing,
It is surely midday certain
That it's getting on toward spring.

TO A CONGRESSMAN.

Oh, Mr. Congressman, pray tell me true,
Pray tell us what, oh, what's come over you?
It's been the custom now for many a year
For us consumers ultimate to hear
From our man down in Washington
By mail.
It didn't seem that this mode of ear
could fail,
Pray do not overlook our urgent needs—
Why haven't we received our garden seeds?

IN THE FUTURE.

Some of the campaign expressions which will be heard when the suffragettes run for president:
"Can't."
"Ain't she the mean thing."
"Her clothes are a fright."
"She's a huzzy. That's what she is."
"Oh, ain't she the spiteful little minx?"
"I wouldn't vote for anybody who has such a poor taste in hats."
"Why, the snippy thing!"
"They say Mrs. — treats her poor husband just terrible around home. Ain't it a shame, and he's such a sweet little dear, too."

THE WEASEL WORD.

Colonel Roosevelt says the word "but" is a weasel word, one which takes the vitality out of the sentiment which precedes it, and the colonel, as usual, is right. The word "but" should be eliminated from the English language. Here are a few reasons why it should:
"He is a fine, handsome, energetic, capable, good-hearted man, BUT it is a pity he drinks."
"It was a very fine party and they looked a lot of money on it; the costumes were magnificent and the music was perfect, BUT it is whispered they are terribly in debt and couldn't afford it."
"She was a handsome woman, BUT she laces awfully."
"He is a very successful business man and a good church member, BUT they say he treats his wife something fierce."
"The presents were numerous and costly, BUT all the guests are kicking because they had to send them."

ACCORDING TO UNCLE ANNIE.

This is a bad year for the feller who is superstitious, for you add up the numerals 1912 and it makes thirteen.

Then, again, there are much more ominous facts than that of both a mauling's husband.

Deed! Friday is looking forward to a prosperous year. He has married off all his daughters' exception! six, and their remaining, practical! up to go into vaudeville. They promised the only genuine sister act in the country.

The feller that kin smile once in a while is a born to mauling, but the feller that grins all the time is a worse pest than the feller that has been to Europe once.

The west is certainly the land of golden opportunity, but 'bout everybody that goes out there t grow up with the country is blamed glad to get back.

PRESS COMMENT.

The Tables Turned.
Evening Wisconsin: Who was it that said his hat was in the ring? Wasn't it Theodore Roosevelt of Oyster Bay? Who was it that exclaimed, "I am stripped to the buff"? The same precise and dignified gentleman who now modestly writes to his friend and campaign manager, Senator Dixon of Montana, criticizing Chairman McKinley of the Fair game committee for saying with reference to the presidential nomination, "I do not favor changes in the game while the game is in progress." Now it does offend the refined ears of the Oyster Bay literateur to listen to sporting language—when used by other people! He likes it as little as he likes to see anyone else using the steam roller, though he used the steam roller himself with keen delight.

A Change of Cases.

Wausau Record-Herald: Circumstances after cases. Bryan now says it the Democrats fail to nominate a progressive he will not outside the party and fight the candidate. It will be recalled that in 1904, when Parker was elected, though he represented the exact opposite of what Bryan professed, the Nebraska stationer for the nomination in 1908. Now, that he has abandoned the idea of over riding the democratic donkey into the White House garage, he sees his duty in a slightly different light.

What is a Reactionary?
Milwaukee Free Press: Is every Republican a reactionary who is not in favor of the judicial recall? The last Wisconsin legislature was controlled absolutely by the men who are followers of Senator La Follette and they refused to indorse the judicial recall. Were they reactionaries? These same legislators also greatly modified the proposed constitutional amendment for the initiative, referendum and the recall of public officers other than judicial, so that it is very different from a law which would meet the extreme views of Senator La Follette. Again we ask, were they reactionaries and, if not, where is the line to be drawn?

Then and Now.
Machine Times: When an ancient Roman wanted a divorce all he had to do was to write his wife a letter. Now all he has to do is to carry in his pocket a letter from the other woman.

Wait Till Good Friday.
Madison Democrat: No, Patrick, it would scarcely be advisable to plant potatoes on St. Patrick's day—not this year at least.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

WRINKLES.

I clipped the following from the "Beauty" page of a Sunday newspaper: Wrinkles are caused by tired muscles. They are more easily prevented than cured. To remain wrinkleless woman must have a placid existence, free from emotion.

Why, certainly, but—
I should like to see a picture of the woman—except she be a barren beauty—who is able to live a placid existence, free from emotion.

Emotion is woman's life.

If it does not come to her she will seek it. Woman lives in her heart. For that is the woman. And she cannot really live and escape her lot.

Only in childhood may one live a more or less placid life.

As a young bride a woman must face the severe trials of a young housekeeper. The process of adjustment to the wedded life is often made to the accompaniment of many tears. Woman cannot quit her wifely task because of the muscle tire that causes wrinkles.

Free from emotion?

As wife she must share the griefs and divide the sorrows with her husband. She cannot live the placid life and let him tread the whippersnapper. She, too, must sometimes wrinkle her brow.

The placid life?

As mother she must suffer all the pangs of motherhood. How can she push away emotion when her heart clutches in an agony of anxiety through the watches of the night for her children's sake? And what cares she for the coming of the wrinkles in such a time?

Moreover—

What sort of woman would she be did she escape the shocks of emotion? She must be aimless, because a fixed purpose requires struggle. She must be loveless, because love means self sacrifice.

Do not misunderstand.

Woman may escape needless worry and useless striving. Modern woman is learning how to rest her tired muscles by reasonable relaxation.

But her world at best is a hard one. And sooner or later the tired face will show the wrinkles.

Let her not be ashamed.

The noblest faces you know are wrinkled faces. And every wrinkle tells its story of sacrifice and helpfulness.

The sweetest face I ever knew was a wrinkled face. The last time I saw that face it was in a coffin on which were piled many flowers.

It was the face of mother.

There are 319,888 employees in all grades of the postal service in the country. This is a force as large as some of the standing armies of Europe.

The "Toothbrush Plant."
One of the most curious plants in the world is what is called the toothbrush plant of Jamaica. It is a species of creeper, and has nothing striking about its appearance. By cutting pieces of it to a suitable length and fraying the ends, the natives convert it into a toothbrush; and a tooth powder to accompany the use of the brush is also prepared by pulverizing the dried stems.

Ungrateful Baby.
When a man brings his baby down town, and does the best he can for it, it makes him feel funny when the baby sets up a yell and says: "I want mamma!"

The Modern Child.

A young girl, inordinately given to stunts, went with her mother to the funeral of an aunt. The dead woman had been strikingly handsome in life, and her features retained all their attractiveness. "How do you think Aunt Blanche looked?" asked the mother when they had viewed the corpse. Enthusiastically the child replied: "Dead swell, didn't she, mother?"

AUSPICIOUS OPENING OF MOTOR CAR SHOW

EXHIBITION CARS WERE ALL IN PLACE AT NOON TODAY AND BIG EVENT IS ON.

RINK IS TRANSFORMED

Latest Models in Various Types And Makes of Cars Displayed Amid Unusually Attractive Decorations.

Janesville's auto show opened today and is running most auspiciously. Nearly all the cars were in place at noon and the last touches were made to the decorations.

Secretary F. E. Lane of the Commercial club took charge of the arranging of the cars about the building and will devote his time and energy to the work of the show. Mr. Lane's efforts at the manufacturers' exhibition earlier in the winter and at the mid-winter fair have won for him just renown in this line of work and the Rock county dealers are favored in securing his assistance and co-operation.

The rink has been transformed into a vast display room for automobiles of fifteen or twenty makes lined up on either side of the walls, leaving the center of the building free for spectators. Practically every space has been taken as several more cars than were expected were entered at the last minute. Among these was a new touring car enter by S. H. Echlin.

The decorations merit more than passing mention. Since before has the rink appeared so attractive and never before has so much time and money been expended to beautify the place. From an invisible wire stretched through the center of the building white paper streamers are draped to either side so that the interior is changed into a winter-wooded show room. The walls are covered with white hunting and branches of green leaves add to the general effect. Numerous multi-colored lanterns are distributed the entire length of the building and the electric bulbs are disguised in the form of red and yellow flowers.

It was a busy place this morning, but even at ten o'clock the visitors began their tour of inspection and several dealers were obliged to stop their work and explain the special merits of their cars. Perhaps no better opportunity has ever been offered in this county or in the southern part of the state for auto dealers and buyers to get together. The long line of cars of different makes and models gives a fine array to select from and it is a place where each car can be compared and contrasted as to every detail.

Auto sales will be made at the show but more than that the number of prospects for every dealer represented will be vastly increased, according to the predictions voiced on every hand. The largest amount of service for the money invested in what the motor car purchaser is considering. And the automobile as a time and money-saver is appealing more and more to the farmer and business man who can invest only a small amount in a car will be anxious to look over the long array of lower and medium priced machines.

Those who are not auto dealers and who have not intentions of buying at present will find the show an interesting event, and a large number of persons who are merely interested in automobiles in a general way will attend the show.

IS SECOND CHOICE TO BE VOTED FOR ON TUESDAY NEXT?

Difference of Opinion as Regards the Meaning of the Election Laws Brings About Confusion.

Do you voters at the coming municipal primary Tuesday vote for second choice candidates or not? This is the problem that is troubling City Clerk Cummings and City Attorney Maxwell. Not only is troubling them but even Secretary of State Frear is at sea as to the matter and Attorney General Hancock rules that the state law applies to all primaries.

Mr. Frear offer a solution of the problem in lieu of a decision from the attorney general on the specific Janesville case which will take some days to reach. He advises that the city clerk consult with the District Attorney, Stanley McGulre, secure his opinion and then call all the candidates for Mayor and Commissioners together and have them agree to abide by his decision. This will end any question of legality to the election. Never in the history of the state have such complications arisen as this year and both the secretary of state and the attorney general's offices are deluged with requests for interpretations as to the construction of the law. The case of the primaries in a city having the commission form of government has not been brought up yet and is a new one. The City Clerk will call a meeting of the candidates this week to decide on the matter before having the ballots printed for the Tuesday primary.

PRESBYTERIAN CLUB HAS FINE MEETING

Young Men's Club Enjoys Regular Supper and Meeting—Judge Lang Speaks to Members.

Members of the Young Men's Presbyterian Club enjoyed the regular monthly meeting at the church last night. After the supper which was very tastefully served by the ladies of the Westminster Guild Judge Charles H. Lang addressed the club upon the "Essentials of a Successful Life" and his remarks were very strong and to the point. After the program had been concluded a committee consisting of Winthrop Metcalf, Orr Laughlin and Harold Jones, was appointed to take charge of and make preparations for the Ladies' Night.

ANSWER FILED TO COMPANY'S APPEAL

Attorney General Urges Truth of Findings of Railroad Commission in Water Company's Case.

In an answer filed to the appeal taken by the Janesville Water Company from the decision of the state railroad commission, Attorney General Hancock in behalf of the commission urges that the findings of the commission in the case were correct and that no change should be ordered. The appeal will be heard before the circuit court of Dane county but no date has as yet been set for the hearing. The company's appeal was made on the ground that certain orders of the commission and the extension of the commission relative to the water were unjust.

MONOGRAMS AWARDED TO FOOTBALL MEN

Fourteen Members of High School Football Team Were Given Tokens This Morning.

Fourteen members of the high school football squad received monograms this morning as tokens of the appreciation of the school for their prowess. For during the past season the warriors won the greater part of their games and as far as Deloit, the school rival was concerned, they not only routed the high school team but made a very creditable showing against the college second.

Those who received a "J. H. S." monogram were: Don Korst, Ray Hallow, Joe Ryan, Andy Connel, Botkins Kelly, Lewis French, Philip Lee, Frank Sutherland, George Sherman, Clifford Davidson, Brian Wilkerson, Maurice Dalton, Roy Cannon, Russell Huttley.

B JUNIORS WILL PLAY EVANSVILLE SATURDAY

Local Y. M. C. A. Team Will Make Trip to Cut Off City for Basketball Game Saturday.

Basketball will be on the program for the B Juniors Saturday and it will take place at Evansville. This will probably mean another added to the long list of Evansville defeats, though the boys from here may have to fight for what they get. McKaffrey and Melroy will play the forwards, with Garbutt at center, and Hayes and Richards for guards. This team has been practicing regularly against the first Junior team and are in tip top shape for the game.

These are bargain days. Read Gazette ads, and profit.

MRS. HARRIET STOCKWELL DIED AT DAUGHTER'S HOME
An Old Resident of Janesville Passed Away at Eight O'clock This Morning.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Janesville, March 14.—After an illness of many weeks, Mrs. Harriet Stockwell passed away at eight o'clock this morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. G. Blackman on Franklin street.

Mrs. Stockwell was born in New York state, March 20, 1840. She had been a resident of Janesville for twenty years of more. She is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Helen Smith of Albany, Wis.; Mrs. Hannah Ethel of Mayfield, N. Y.; and Mrs. Harry Sumner, Gloverville, N. Y.; and two daughters, Mrs. C. C. Seales of Salt Lake City, Utah, and Mrs. C. G. Blackman of this city.

The funeral will be held from the Blackman home Saturday afternoon at half past one.

To Discuss Canal Effects.
Chicago, Ill., March 14.—The probable effects of the Panama canal upon railroads and commerce is to be extensively discussed by the National Industrial Traffic League at its spring meeting in this city. The discussion is to be participated in by shippers of freight throughout the country. It is said to be probable that the league will go on record in favor of certain rules to govern the management of the canal.

Always Worth Waiting For.
If success seems abominably slow in being attained, it is worth while remembering that the quickest and surest way to render it absolutely impossible to give up trying for it, or to try for it like some people do when they find themselves in deep water, throw their arms and legs and head in desperation.

ORFORDVILLE
Orfordville, March 14.—Mrs. A. G. Heynold was in Janesville yesterday to see her husband, who had an operation performed at Mercy hospital on Tuesday. He was feeling rather badly yesterday but his many friends hope for a speedy recovery.

"MORE PASTORS" IS CALL TO EASTERN SEMINARIES
Rev. Frank M. Sheldon of Madison, Recently Visited New England Schools to Emphasize Need.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., March 14.—"More pastors" is Wisconsin's call to the theological seminaries of the east. Vacancies in many Congregational churches led the state superintendent, Rev. Frank M. Sheldon, of this city to visit the religious training schools of New England recently to emphasize the need of the situation here.

In the last few years, he told the students, there has been a new spirit in Wisconsin rural churches.

"There is a new aggressiveness," he said, "a determined grappling with problems. There are fewer chances by half; fewer vacant fields than for years and interludes between pastorates are shorter. There are new points of contact, community programs, church federations, and some of them. There is a new sense of solidarity, a new corporation, and a growing enthusiasm. Salaries are being increased and people really reached."

Hard Fate.
There is no one so miserable in the world as the unprepared man, the un-equipped man.

Danderine

Stops Falling Hair and Destroys Dandruff

Makes the Hair Grow Long, Heavy and Luxuriant and We Can Quickly Prove It

If You Wish to Double the Beauty of Your Hair at Once, Just Get a 25 Cent Bottle and Try This

Surely try a Danderine Hair Cleanse if you wish to immediately double the beauty of your hair with little trouble and at a cost not worth mentioning—just moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one small strand at a time, this will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or any excessive oil—in a few moments you will be amazed. Your hair will be wavy, fluffy and abundant and possess an incomparable softness, lustre and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Besides beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of Dandruff, cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. It's exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow abundantly long, strong and beautiful. It at once imparts a sparkling brilliancy and velvety softness to the hair, and a few weeks' use will cause new hair to sprout all over the scalp. Use it every day for a short time, after which two or three times a week will be sufficient to complete whatever growth you desire.

You can surely have pretty, soft, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.

WHAT MAYOR CAN DO FOR HIS HOME CITY

BELOIT DAILY NEWS PAYS HIGH TRIBUTE TO MAYOR CUNNINGHAM OF THE LINE CITY.

TELLS OF THE REFORMS

How He Backed Up the Police Department in Cleaning Up Beloit of Its Noxious Dens.

Janesville is on the verge of a municipal election. Under the newly created commission form of government the old regime will be ousted from office and the opportunity given the newly elected officials to clean up Janesville just as Beloit has been cleaned up. Mayor Cunningham of the Line City has just announced that he will not be a candidate for re-nomination or election and the Beloit Daily News, in speaking of the announcement, pays the following tribute to him and his work. It shows what a mayor can do if he sets out to do it and it might be a lesson to whoever is elected mayor of Janesville. The News says:

"The withdrawal of Mayor Cunningham will bring to practically every citizen of Beloit a sense of personal loss. It may be safely said that since the mayor's statement will be quickly followed by a general regret that he has come to his present determination, as Lawrence Cunningham has made the best mayor Beloit has ever had and the public has always felt safe with him at the helm. He has endeavored himself to the people by his conscientiousness as an official and by a thousand acts of consideration known only to those who have personally experienced the big heart of his heart."

"The majority of people believed the mayor desired to succeed himself and would again be in the field. It is conceded that no man can enter the lists with him successfully—and the mayor likes the office and takes a great personal pride in it. He has labored but one meeting of the council in all the six years he has been executive and that absence was caused by a suspension of interest in the city and West Park. Mr. Cunningham, although realizing his strength, told his intimate friends today that at no time had he thought of running again, but had not deemed it necessary to make a pronounced statement until this time."

"And how strange is human nature! There were those who felt that the mayor owed it to himself not to be a candidate, but no sooner had he satisfied them on that point than they entered him to stick to the office he had so acceptably filled."

"The strength of Mayor Cunningham lies not only in his personal relation with men of all shades of opinion but in the fact that Beloit has undergone a marvelous change under his administration. When he first assumed the reins of office the city was making themselves heard very distinctly regarding the need of a moral cleanup in the city. Under the former administration there were an abundance of houses of ill-fame, with shady places in the heart of the business district. Open gambling houses were in operation, saloon men were not only charged with but were guilty of violations of all the ordinances pertaining to closing hours and to the selling of liquor to minors. The bloodiest kind of prize fights were pulled off regularly, the pulpits thundered in vain against a police force and executive who either would not or could not hear."

"Mayor Cunningham made no noise after his election. He used neither a club nor a brass band. He told the chief to notify immoral men to leave the city—and they left and have not returned. Gambling was suppressed, and slot machines—the lure of youth—were done away with. Authority to carry on prize fights was revoked and in this respect the mayor has kept absolute faith with that element of society that went to him in protest. The mayor had a way of his own with saloon-keepers—not the way of some of his predecessors. Mr. Cunningham did not go sleuthing or breaking down doors. He told the men in the liquor business to be sensible and obey the laws. They were quick to recognize the wisdom of his advice and the mayor has a tremendous satisfaction in the knowledge that not a single complaint has been made to him in over two years that saloon-keepers have been unlawful. And both the saloon-keepers and the municipality are the better off—and ready to do more."

"The mayor speaks feelingly of the splendid co-operation of Chief Qualman. The latter is another man who works quietly—hand in hand with the mayor. They have a deep respect, one for the other. When the mayor suggested the elimination of hurdy-gurdies in saloons and that theatres be not opened on Sunday Chief Qualman saw that the suggestions were carried out. And the chief, under the mayor's orders, has put an end to the disgraceful clubbing of unfortunate policemen when placing them under arrest."

"Beloit has improved more during the six years of Mayor Cunningham's administration than during all its previous history. He has urged great omissions, however, and believed that a public dollar should be as carefully guarded as a private dollar. He held views on finance and other questions different from the majority of the council and they took certain powers away from him and endeavored to humiliate him time and again. The majority evidenced a nasty and petty spirit, but the mayor quietly and calmly performed his duties with dignity, and today the council that gave him shabby treatment respects and admires him."

"And so Mayor Cunningham has come to be loved and honored by the people and his administration with the satisfaction of a duty well done, and it is one of his keenest pleasures that he has stowed away scores of letters from men of active civic life praising him for the good things he has accomplished; that he has been visited by hundreds of voters, singly and in delegations, during the past month, who have endeavored to persuade him to again become a candidate. This he has not felt inclined to do and his announcement speaks for itself."

STATE DEPARTMENT FAVORS NEW BILL

Would Revolutionize Foreign Diplomatic Service It Is Believed

Department of State, Washington, March 11, 1912.

To the Editor of the Gazette: Janesville, Wisconsin.

My Dear Sir:

In view of your interest in the extension of the commerce of the United States with foreign countries and the development of an efficient foreign service capable of rendering substantial assistance to American manufacturers and exporters, it gives me great pleasure to enclose a copy of a bill (H. R. 20044) just introduced in the House of Representatives of the United States by the Honorable William Sulzer, Chairman of the Committee on Foreign Affairs, together with a brief outline of the objects which the bill is designed to accomplish. This bill is similar to that before the last Congress and known as the Lowden Bill. Its enactment would give legislative sanction to the existing executive regulations governing appointments and promotions in the diplomatic and consular service, make permanent the great improvement already brought about, and lay the foundation for still further improvement in the future. The Sulzer Bill is in harmony with the recommendations of the President and of the Secretary of State, and embodies the principles for which the commercial organizations of the country have been contending for a number of years. The department hopes that the measure will commend itself to you and receive your earnest support.

I am, my dear Sir, Your obedient servant,

HUNTINGTON WILSON, Acting Secretary of State.

The enactment of the Sulzer Bill (H. R. 20044) insures—

"That the consideration of the political affiliations of candidates would be prohibited."

"That the successful passing of the prescribed examinations would be fully recognized as a prerequisite for foreign service appointments."

"That efficiency is the only basis for promotion."

"That the special efficiency of diplomatic secretaries, of consular officers, of departmental officers and employees, and of all persons who have passed the prescribed examinations would be brought to the attention of the President when recommendations for initial appointments, promotions, and transfers are submitted to him."

"That efficiency records would be kept of diplomatic secretaries, of consular officers, and officers and clerks of the Department of State."

"That the proportional representation of the several States and Territories in the foreign service would be published at the close of each examination."

"That diplomatic secretaries and consuls would be appointed to grades instead of to specified posts."

"That orderly promotion would be made possible by the grading of diplomatic secretaries."

"That the scope and frequency of examinations would be logically established."

"That the examining boards would be legally established."

"That the reports of the examining boards would be in writing and would be published."

"That the constitutional provision requiring the concurrence of the Senate to make the appointment of diplomatic and consular officers effective would not be changed."

beginning with a rather ceremonious salutation, followed by 'I take my pen in hand.' In all instances the letters were well written and contained very interesting items. In those days letters took the place of newspapers and magazines, and letter-writing was a veritable art."

The book was purchased by Miss Dabson's grandfather before he left England for America.

DEATH CALLS AGED MILTON RESIDENT

La Fette Coon Passed Away at Home at Milton Junction Tuesday.—Funeral Held Today.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Milton Junction, March 14.—La Fette Coon passed away at his home here Tuesday evening. Mr. Coon was born in Brookfield, N. Y., May 26, 1821. At the age of twenty he went to Rhode Island, while living there he married Mary C. Wells of Waterford, Conn. To them were born three children, Edward, Samuel and George.

La Fette came to Milton, Wis., where they lived for many years. He served as treasurer of the town board for two years. In 1892 they moved to Milton Junction, where they have since lived. For several years Mr. Coon has been in feeble health. For a year and a half his son Edward and wife have lived with them and cared for them very kindly.

Mr. Coon died Thursday afternoon at six o'clock. Besides his wife, he leaves two sons, Edward and George, both of this place, and a daughter, Mrs. J. H. Schmitt of Watertown, Wis. Funeral services were held at eleven o'clock from the S. D. H. church. Interment was made in the cemetery at this place.

NEVER ANY INDIGESTION, DYSPEPSIA OR SICK, GASSY, UPSET STOMACH

Your out-of-order Stomach feels fine five minutes after taking a little Diapain.

Take your sour out-of-order stomach—or maybe you call it Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Gastritis or Catarrh of the Stomach; it doesn't matter—take your stomach trouble right with you to your Pharmacist and ask him to open a 50-cent case of Papa's Diapain and let you eat one 22-grain Triangulo and see if within five minutes there is left any trace of your former misery.

The correct name for your trouble is Food Fermentation—food souring; the digestive organs become weak; there is lack of gastric juice; your food is only half digested, and you become affected with loss of appetite, pressure and fullness after eating, vomiting, nausea, heartburn, griping

In bowels, tenderness in the pit of stomach, bad taste in mouth, constipation, pain in limbs, sleeplessness, belching of gas, bloatedness, sick headache, nervousness, dizziness or many other similar symptoms.

If your appetite is sickly and nothing tempts you, or you belch gas, or if you feel bloated after eating, or your food lies like a lump of lead on your stomach, you can make up your mind that at the bottom of all this there is but one cause—fermentation of undigested food.

Prove to yourself in five minutes that your stomach is as good as any; that there is nothing really wrong. Stop this fermentation and begin eating what you want without fear of discomfort or misery.

Almost instant relief is waiting for you. It is merely a matter of how soon you take a little Diapain.

SIDEWALK KETCHES.

THE ACTOR.

By Howard L. Ramm.

The actor is a human being, who occasionally surprises everybody by appearing like one on the stage. The late Joe Jefferson introduced this style of acting to the American stage, and scandalized the critics of the day by refusing to dress "Rip Van Winkle" in a Tuxedo and cavalry boots. It used to be considered the height of art for an actor to disguise the audience until all the audience couldn't tell whether they were attending "Uncle Tom's Cabin," or "Kismet and Juliet," without asking the actor. The old style actor was generally over-dressed, mainly in a short and tight-fitting suit, and the tendency nowadays is toward primitive and naive effects, which cause timid men to gasp in several different languages. The actor is divided into two classes—legitimate and vaudeville. The legitimate actor is one who upholds the traditions of the stage, and the price of seats in the family circle, and he would as soon think of letting go of one as the other. The vaudeville actor is an escaped lunatic of the legitimate class, who frees himself of a collection of rented honours at a salary which would enable a Standard Oil dividend. There is also the barnstorming actor, who substitutes madly upon applause in the form of hard-boiled eggs, and the plastic plank of the cabbage, just at present there is quite a demand for stages upon which to locate actors who are now engaged in haunting the Illinois, and the home of the free lunch. It is estimated that there are something like 8,000 actors for every stage, at the present writing, a condition which is causing a moral depression in the market price of green paint and false whiskers. Some actors never retire from business until the management has to screen in the stage with wire netting, while others grow better with age, and are held in grateful memory long after they have made their bow, before a curtain which never descends.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janeville Gazette, March 14, 1872—After an unsuccessful attempt to steal the books of the company, Jay Gould has resigned the presidency of the Erie railroad, surrendered the books and papers and other property of the company in his possession; and signed his submission to the authority of the board of directors elected in opposition to the ring which, for years past have had this road the instrument through which the people have been robbed to an extent almost incredible. It is rumored that Carl Schurz is about to propose an amendment to the constitution of the United States doing away with the clause which renders aliens ineligible for the presidency—"to strengthen our side."

A single case of smallpox in Wisconsin has cost the authorities over $500. The Dayfield Press understands that there will be able to pass through the Sault Canal on the 4th of May. The Racine Council by a vote of 8 to 3 has decided not to fight the gas in the future.

It doesn't cost a penny to hum a blithe and cheerful tune as you lope down the road; the sight of you, so bright and gay, may cause some pit grim on his way and once his weary soul is soothed, it doesn't cost a penny to say good morning to the next man upon the walk; and it may bring a pleasant glow to some and heart that grief and woe have made as hard as rock. It doesn't cost a penny to carry light to places dark by wearing cheerful mien; a happy bright, contented face will be a lamp in any place, and light the darkest scene. It doesn't cost a penny to be a leader to your fellow men and nerve them for the fray; just illustrate your firm belief that joy is a better thing than grief, and that the world's O. K. It doesn't cost a penny to be an asset to your town, and to be known as such, sincerely do your daily stint and wear a brave and hopeful front, and you'll accomplish much. Your influence for good or bad is greater than you know, my lad, so use it wisely well; don't wall around or tear your robe, but always boost this good old globe on which we mortals dwell.

you know, my lad, so use it wisely well; don't wall around or tear your robe, but always boost this good old globe on which we mortals dwell.

WHAT BUELL SAID ON VACATION QUESTION

FULL TEXT OF PAPER READ BY JANESVILLE SCHOOL SUPER-INTENDENT AT MADISON.

INTERESTING PROBLEM

Idea is Advanced It Would be Beneficial for the School Children in the Long Run.

So much has been said relative to the vacation question that it is really unnecessary to repeat the same. The school children of Janesville are now in the midst of their vacation. The school children of Janesville are now in the midst of their vacation. The school children of Janesville are now in the midst of their vacation.

A few years ago clearly the great purpose underlying our public school system was to prepare the child for his political duties. A new democracy, based upon its electorate for its success, must educate its future voters in the duties of citizenship. This new nation hoping to realize in a large sense its great political ideal saw the necessity of an intelligent citizenship secured by a universal education. This continued warfare against illiteracy for more than a century exemplified the faith of a nation in public education as a means of securing good government and stability in our representative democracy.

In a very real sense we have not outgrown this thought of education. Probably the most convincing argument to justify a large school appropriation in any community today is the political one, appealing to the generally accepted need of an intelligent citizenship.

Another principle, formulated by Horace Mann, but which found lodgment in the national consciousness at a much later time, was the thought of education as a preparation for economic life. It may seem incongruous to associate a fear of poverty with anything connected with the name America, but since our free land has been exhausted and our frontier line has become obliterated, we have begun to realize what older nations have long since learned that for a country to long endure it must rest upon a solid economic foundation. Our ignorance in handling our great resources of nature and our wanton waste of soil elements, forest material, mineral resources and other great store houses of wealth have made us feel the sting of high prices with small incomes.

If we are to maintain anything resembling the American standard of living we must educate the masses in the science and art of becoming industrially and economically efficient. Public education is again called into service as the means of saving our nation, not from political chaos, but from industrial mediocrity. The schools of America are to prepare the future generations for effective service in the great world of productivity. As yet we are feeling our way, or merely groping for light. We are aiming to articulate our literary culture of study with vocational subjects of education with indifferent success. We have attempted to superimpose Manual Training, Domestic Science, Commercial Education and Agriculture training upon an already well-filled literary curriculum.

I firmly believe that if the modern acquisitions to our school curriculum are to meet the nation's need in regard to this new duty there must be a different adjustment as to time given, method of instruction pursued, equipment for teaching provided from what the present conditions afford, more than that, if the so-called essentials or cultural subjects are to be as effective as formerly in the hands of equally good teachers, a readjustment is necessary providing for more time to teach the common branches which make for citizenship. If this is to be taught from a comparative basis, if reading is to be taught as a key to knowledge and at the same time a literary taste for good books is to be cultivated, and if Arithmetic is to be taught at all, more time is needed for these educational processes to take root and grow. More than that—if habits of study are to be engendered, if the power of concentration is to be developed, if our children are to be anything more than educational creatures, jumping from plant to plant and chirping from every vine, we must get the time somewhere and somehow for a development of real educational powers through a continuous application of educational processes.

Admitting that much time may be saved through the process of elimination of obsolete subject matter in many of the older branches, as has already been accomplished in the subject of Arithmetic, and further admitting that the modern manual or vocational subjects may yet be subjected to a vigorous pruning process there yet remains the stupendous fact that our courses of study would still be crowded to the bursting point. In order to secure adequate time to accomplish this economic and practical work of education in the field of preparation for political life, I have three suggestions to offer.

First, I advocate a longer school day. This relief from a congested curriculum would necessitate some readjustment of the program to avoid brain fatigue when one line of work is followed too continuously. A proper amount of diversion in the form of well directed play should be furnished. A change from mental to manual activities would be a psychological necessity, physical training would add in body and brain building, and more fresh air and a cooler school room would do the rest.

The program of the graded schools especially, would need to provide for more work out of doors and in rooms giving more freedom than the ordinary school room, but I am sure the problem could be worked out to the advantage of the child and to the securing of more sufficient product to go out into the industrial life of the state.

Second, I advocate a longer school year. Is there any reason why a summer vacation should be greater than three or four weeks in length unless it is to give the child a release from the excessive strain of an overworked curriculum? Wouldn't a month's time be adequate for an average child to recuperate his flagging powers if the school the year round called into action in proportionate balance his mental and physical organism?

Isn't the advantage of our work in the line of agricultural education practically nullified by the abandonment of the work during the busy summer months of the year when the work in plant life can be successfully prosecuted? Isn't it a waste of time to have a child study about a new machine upon outdoor study would be advantageous. One could not but feel the responsibility of conserving the health and vigor of the physical powers of children during the extreme heated part of summer, but wouldn't the season also bring some compensating advantages in the form of freedom from exposure to cold, poor ventilation of the school house, with its attending infections and contagious diseases, winter colds and drifted roads, etc., at any rate it would furnish time under reasonably favorable conditions for the schools to take up their new burden of labor and thus render to the state a more reasonable service. The school under this lengthened day and year would necessarily partake more of the nature of a workshop and recreation center. When the pupil gets out into life his shop or store or place of business would not close for summer vacations, neither should he form habits which should render a prolonged summer vacation a necessity.

In the city the long vacation furnishes the opportunity for acquiring habits of indolence if not of vice which will hamper him in the race of life. At best in the smaller places a child's mental energies become wasted for want of skillful direction. On the whole the long school year with a modified school curriculum would give a better moral output, a better mental product and I believe a better physical development.

The third, I advocate a more perfect union of the new and the old subjects with much of the subject matter of one furnishing material for the other. This activity and growth in the child. This is illustrated in various specific ways. Much of the material in the work in Botany, in Chemistry and in other sciences are available for the work of agriculture. The work of the master hand to bring about the fusion of related sciences and thus save years of time now spent in duplication of work that ought to be related.

Some one will work out for us some day a new correlation of Domestic Science with Physiology and the other related sciences, so that both subjects will not need to be studied in order to articulate the individual with life's great problems of health and dietetics.

Many attempts have been made to articulate the work in Arithmetic with life's experiences in the great world beyond the school. Somebody a genius will write an Arithmetic so articulated with real life that everyone will wonder why it hadn't been accomplished before.

Our reading material has broadened and deepened and lengthened in recent years so that the child in learning to read has not only the wealth of juvenile literature at his command, but he has every phase of human history presented in his reading books. This correlation of the new with the old subjects has not yet been worked out but some little time will be saved when this correlation shall have been consummated. In the meantime if we are to maintain the former efficiency of our schools in that we are attempting to realize two purposes instead of one with a proportional amount of added work required we must spend more time in the varied school efforts or else fall far below our former standard of school efficiency.

It seems almost like the irony of fate that the despised race of negroes, that cast this nation a stinging amount of blood and treasure to give them their political freedom, should themselves become the teachers of our nation in the industrial life outside. I believe it is generally conceded by those who have studied the principles and methods of the Booker Washington Institution at Tuskegee that there is the most workable articulation of literary and industrial subjects that the mind of man has yet worked out. There the light is successfully waged against those twin evils of our nation's life, ignorance and poverty. Ignorance which has cursed the black belt and threatened the very democracy of the southern states since the Civil War; and poverty which menaced the individual manhood of a whole race of people, with a degradation a thousand times worse than slavery itself. "Go to the ant, thou sluggard, consider her ways and be wise." We have gone to the southland, we have considered the principles there exemplified and wisdom is beginning to be manifested in our changed attitude towards both a cultural and an industrial education.

Curious Bits of History. The Silver Grays. By A. W. MACY.

Millard Fillmore was not a very popular president. He had many admirers, but they were not sufficiently numerous to procure for him the nomination for a second term. His supporters thought the slavery question was settled by the compromise of 1850, a view which a very large number of people did not share. A convention of the president's admirers was called to meet at Syracuse, N. Y., for the purpose of vindicating him and endorsing his policy. Evidently, however, the enemies of the administration had packed the convention; for when a vote was taken on a test question it was found they were greatly in the majority. Thereupon the president's supporters, led by the chairman, left the convention. As most of them were elderly, gray-haired men, they were called "The Silver Grays."

East Animal Topics. One feature of the exhibit will be a representative display of farm animals, such types being selected as have been found adapted to, and profitable upon many Wisconsin farms. The Percheron stallion Horatio, which closely conforms to the standards of the breed as has been shown by his repeated winnings at winter horse shows at Madison; the champion Clydesdale filly Amantylla, regarded by many as a most typical specimen of the great Scotch draft family; a splendid Hereford heifer owned by J. C. Robinson & Son, Evansville, Wisconsin's leading "white-faced" cattle breeders; and a yearling Shorthorn bull owned by Fox and Gallagher of Oregon, as well as a number of dairy animals representing the breeds most popular in the state will be included in the live stock exhibit, which will be installed in a commodious Arms Palace stock car so arranged as to permit of careful inspection by those visiting the trails. In another portion of the car will be displayed gifts of honor of several of the leading breeds of swine, and a team of oxen of the mutton breeds of sheep most commonly bred by Wisconsin stockmasters.

Corps of Speakers. In the demonstration car ahead will be a complete and comprehensive display of dairy utensils, miniature barns showing approved ventilated schemes, charts showing economic dairy rationing which have been found successful under Wisconsin conditions, etc.

Among the corps of speakers who will accompany the train will be Professor George C. Humphrey, whose address, "The Efficient Dairy Cow," has proven of interest and value to the thousands of Badger state farmers; L. P. Martiny, one of the most popular of the Wisconsin Farmers' Institute force, who will speak upon "Profitable Horse Production"; Dr. A. S. Alexander, known far and wide for his crusade for better horses, who will give one of his many interesting lectures upon this important subject; and W. H. Myron, former attorney general of the state, who will very likely be on hand to tell his hearers why Wisconsin is destined to continue one of the greatest live stock states in the union.

Committees in Charge. The committee in charge of arrangements consists of L. P. Martiny of Chippewa Falls, president of the association; D. E. Wilson of Wausau, vice president; Andrew W. Hopkins, Madison, secretary; Richard W. Rowlands, Madison, field man; John E. Jones, Rockford, treasurer; John E. Donald, Mt. Horeb, David Harbo, Roberts, Charles L. ## TRAVELING EXHIBIT OF BEST LIVE STOCK

State Live Stock Breeders and Agricultural School to Conduct Novel School for Breeders.

It has been definitely decided that beginning March 25th, the Wisconsin Live Stock Breeders' association and the Wisconsin College of Agriculture will cooperate with the Chicago and Northwestern and Chicago and Milwaukee and St. Paul railways, in the operation of a "Live Stock Special" over several of the important branches of their roads in southern Wisconsin.

Under the immediate supervision of L. P. Martiny of Chippewa Falls, president of the association, and Geo. C. Humphrey, animal husbandman of the Wisconsin College of Agriculture, the first train will be run on the Madison division of the Northwestern road, stops of several hours being made in accordance with the regular passenger schedule at the following points:

April 1, Milton (forenoon); April 2, Milwaukee (forenoon); April 3, Waukegan (forenoon); April 4, Mayville (forenoon); April 5, Beaver Dam (evening); April 6, Randolph (forenoon); April 7, Columbus (forenoon); and Watertown (afternoon).

One feature of the exhibit will be a representative display of farm animals, such types being selected as have been found adapted to, and profitable upon many Wisconsin farms. C. Robinson & Son, Evansville, Wisconsin's leading "white-faced" cattle breeders; and a yearling Shorthorn bull owned by Fox and Gallagher of Oregon, as well as a number of dairy animals representing the breeds most popular in the state will be included in the live stock exhibit, which will be installed in a commodious Arms Palace stock car so arranged as to permit of careful inspection by those visiting the trails. In another portion of the car will be displayed gifts of honor of several of the leading breeds of swine, and a team of oxen of the mutton breeds of sheep most commonly bred by Wisconsin stockmasters.

Corps of Speakers. In the demonstration car ahead will be a complete and comprehensive display of dairy utensils, miniature barns showing approved ventilated schemes, charts showing economic dairy rationing which have been found successful under Wisconsin conditions, etc.

Among the corps of speakers who will accompany the train will be Professor George C. Humphrey, whose address, "The Efficient Dairy Cow," has proven of interest and value to the thousands of Badger state farmers; L. P. Martiny, one of the most popular of the Wisconsin Farmers' Institute force, who will speak upon "Profitable Horse Production"; Dr. A. S. Alexander, known far and wide for his crusade for better horses, who will give one of his many interesting lectures upon this important subject; and W. H. Myron, former attorney general of the state, who will very likely be on hand to tell his hearers why Wisconsin is destined to continue one of the greatest live stock states in the union.

Committees in Charge. The committee in charge of arrangements consists of L. P. Martiny of Chippewa Falls, president of the association; D. E. Wilson of Wausau, vice president; Andrew W. Hopkins
